

A MADISON PUBLIC SCHOOLS LEGACY STORY

Sharing stories of enduring gifts made through Madison Public Schools Foundation.

Anne Marie Malecha
La Follette Class of 2005

Public education should be a right not a privilege. I was in school at a time when education funding was a state and national priority, which allowed me to have a great education without the need for significant external funding sources. Unfortunately, that's not the case today and the Madison Public Schools Foundation is vital in helping to bridge the gap and give students what they need to succeed.

Ensuring future generations have the same or better opportunities than I did is why I serve on the board of Madison Public Schools Foundation and have committed to a planned gift through the Foundation's Legacy Circle program. There's no greater legacy than changing the lives of students.

My teachers, administrators, and coaches at Elvehjem Elementary, Sennett Middle and La Follette High schools had a profound impact on my life. They provided a foundation for lifelong learning, leadership, care and curiosity, and so much more. My giving to Madison Public Schools Foundation is a small way to recognize and honor them.

I currently live in Washington, D.C. and whenever I'm back in Madison, I make sure to connect with childhood friends.

I was joined by two other alum at a Summit Credit Union Staff Appreciation Coffee at La Follette in February 2024 where we ran into one of our teachers.
